

Best bets tonight

Christopher Plummer, Sara Botsford, Stacie Mistysyn and Pat Mastroianni star in Circle Of Fear, about a teen (Fab Filippo) who falls in with the wrong crowd and gets involved in the high school-gang underworld, at 7:30 on Channels 3, 5 and 12.

Archaeology, at 9, 11 and 1 on pay TV's TLC, focuses on the ancient — and until recently overlooked — lost city of Great Zimbabwe, a relic of a forgotten great African culture. Then, at 9:30, 11:30 and 1:30, The World: A Television History begins its cycle again, with "The Birth Of Civilization — 1,000-2,000 BC.

Space Age looks at how orbiting satellites affect — and in some cases control — our lives in "Celestial Sentinel", at 9 on Channel 17.

The Liberace of rock 'n' roll goes acoustic in Elton John Unplugged on MuchMusic at 8 and 12:30.

Everybody Dance Now, at 9 on Channels 3, 5 and 12, looks at how dancing singers like Michael Jackson, "singing" dancers like Paula Abdul and the dance and pseudo dance of music videos have affected choreography and rug cutting.

Christopher Hampton's adaptation of his play "Tales From Hollywood", on American Playhouse at 10 on Channel 17, about German writers who fled the Nazis and went to work for a new tyranny — Hollywood — during World War II, stars Alec Guinness, Jeremy Irons and Elizabeth McGovern.
